

EXPLOLABS PERSONNEL - WATER PROJECT

As the drought in South Africa leads to failed crops and water shortages in many areas of the country, South Africans has come together to distribute water to the affected areas. The Explolabs personnel managed to gather empty bottles and containers and donated 200ℓ of drinking water within two days. The water was delivered to a designated water drop-off point where it was transported to the affected areas.

Water bottles and containers gathered, washed and filled by staff.

25 000ℓ water gathered at the Drop-off point in Pretoria. The water was then transported to the affected areas in the Free State.
